Absolut Vodka and Tabasco unite for a bold collaboration: ABSOLUT® TABASCO™, a crisp and clean vodka with a fiery kick made for today's unstoppable demand for spicy cocktails.

PROVENANCE

Absolut's story started in 1879, today every drop of Absolut Vodka still comes from the tiny village of Åhus, Sweden using only Swedish winter wheat and pure water.

Tabasco Sauce has been crafted on Avery Island, Louisiana since 1868 from peppers that have been protected for more than a century and a half by the McIlhenny family.

QUALITY

From "Seed to Bottle", Absolut's community controls every step of the production process to guarantee the same exceptional quality in every drop.

From "Seed to Sauce", the McIlhenny family safeguards Tabasco's prized pepper seeds in a vault before crafting the world's most iconic hot sauce.

LEGACY

Both Absolut and Tabasco endure as icons: timeless bottles with a shared legacy of flavor that ignite everything they touch. Tabasco first spiced up the Bloody Mary in 1946, Absolut has been creating the future with flavored vodka since 1986.

SOILS, VINES AND BIODIVERSITY: A SYSTEMIC APPROACH

In vineyards, everything is connected: the health of the vine depends on the quality of the soil. The vine integrates into the landscape, where functional biodiversity helps regulate the environment in ways beneficial to the vine. It is characterized by a holistic approach based on three key principles designed to make vineyards more resilient. Since 2021, Perrier-Jouët is experimenting with regenerative practices on 50% of the surfaces of its own vineyard with the objective to reach 100% by 2030.

OBJECTIVE

Encourage natural nutrition cycles and reinforce the vine's natural defences.

HOW?

Use of biosolutions that stimulate the plant's defense reactions and provide essential elements for its proper metabolic development. These natural mechanisms and plant interactions help the vine to defend itself effectively against pathogens and other pests.

1 SOIL HEALTH

OBJECTIVE

Improve soil life and fertility, promote carbon sequestration.

HOW?

Soil analysis, followed by the planting of suitable cover crops including grasses (such as rye, which can produce large quantities of biomass), nitrogen-fixing varieties (legumes such as faba beans, clover, etc.) or melliferous varieties (mallow, birdsfoot trefoil, etc.).

3 PRESERVING BIODIVERSITY

OBJECTIVE

Promote biodiversity in landscapes and improve ecosystem functionality, in particular by providing a home for symbiotic species with the vines.

HOW?

Biodiversity islands, nesting boxes for bats, beehives, low walls, and even vitiforestry parcels with different strata (trees, shrubs and herbaceous plants) within the vineyard plot. The expected long-term benefits are numerous: fertility, biodiversity, evapotranspiration, windbreak and anti-erosion effects, etc.
